FACULTY VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

The Department of Nursing at the College of Staten Island (CSI), currently seeks candidates for a Doctoral Lecturer position. This position is anticipated to begin in August 2025. The Nursing Department is a member of the consortium of three senior City University of New York (CUNY) colleges that offer undergraduate and graduate nursing degrees. The CSI Nursing Faculty positions present an exceptional opportunity for the successful candidates to participate in the continued intellectual and institutional growth and development of the long-standing Nursing Department within the City University of New York.

CSI is a senior CUNY College organized around two academic divisions and three schools with over 10,000 students. CSI offers a broad range of academic programs in the liberal arts and sciences, and in several professional areas. The College awards associate's, bachelor's, masters, and clinical doctoral degrees, and in collaboration with the CUNY Graduate Center, numerous Ph.D. degrees. CSI's internationally recognized faculty passionately engage in scholarly and artistic activities, and together with a strong professional staff, lead students through transformational learning experiences both inside and outside of the classroom. The College is situated on a 204-acre site, has recently incorporated a residential component, and is currently engaging in capital expansion. It is a hub of intellectual and artistic activity, a community partner, and source of economic impact and job creation for the greater Staten Island area.

The College's faculty, administration, and staff are committed to educational excellence as they instill in students an enduring love of learning and respect for pluralism and diversity. The College community recognizes its responsibility to strive for the common good, including an informed appreciation for the interdependence of all people, as well as providing students with the opportunities for successful future careers.

This is a full-time, in person, teaching position. The position of doctoral lecturer is tenure-bearing through a certificate of continuous employment (CCE), after a positive sixth annual reappointment.

QUALIFICATIONS

The successful candidate will have a terminal degree in nursing or related disciplines (PhD, DNP, EdD). Candidates must have an unencumbered New York State RN license. Other qualifications include the ability to teach successfully and provide service; commitment to inclusive excellence; strong communication skills; and the ability to cooperate with others for the good of the institution. Must have 3-5 years of professional nursing practice experience in area(s) of teaching responsibilities.

Preferred qualifications include:

- 1) Specialty certification as Advanced Practice Registered Nurse.
- 2) Three to five years teaching experience in nursing courses.
- 3) Experience with academic accreditation and writing curricular reports
